Dear Colleague,

As a new school year begins, I wanted to express my gratitude for your assistance in helping us build Columbia’s Class of 2018. The cohort of students, which you can learn more about on the back, will be joining a diverse community of scholars, continuing our rich tradition of intellectual inquiry. As the incoming students get settled on campus, my staff and I have started to focus on recruiting and selecting the Class of 2019, and we look forward to our continued partnership as we work with prospective students and families.

Best wishes,

Jessica Marinaccio
Dean of Undergraduate Admissions and Financial Aid
